TOM FAULKNER

April 2015

It's all in the detail....

Tom Faulkner expands their accessories range to include candlesticks, vases, clocks and colourful woollen throws.

The award winning British furniture company has introduced some exquisite new pieces to add to their accessories range, which reflect the elegant lines and contours characterized by Tom Faulkner furniture. Simple and timeless, the collection now includes:

Stunning faceted Galena vases and pots. (pictured in White Gold, Pink Silver and Antique Silver) These are all handmade and are available in a wide range of standard and specialist finishes.

Sculptural Capricorn candlesticks (pictured in solid polished bronze) These are available in solid bronze - both polished and patinated, polished copper, and polished stainless steel.

The Minimalist Now clock (pictured in three patinations) These are available in three unusual patinated finishes - Black, Bronze & Brown.

"It's interesting to work with metal on a smaller scale. It throws up different challenges but the end result is worth it. It's satisfying to provide the perfect finishing touch to a room, and all the accessories look great in our showroom alongside our furniture." Tom Faulkner, designer and founder.

In addition, if you visit the Tom Faulkner showroom in Chelsea you will be able to buy a range of luxurious Shetland and Lambswool throws. Exclusively developed by Tom with Wallace & Sewell, the three designs include a Pinstripe, Twill and a Prism stripe, woven in bright, natural tones and rich, earthy colour combinations.
