PRESS INFORMATION

The Exe dining table is given a stunning new look.

Exe is one of Tom Faulkner's most distinctive silhouettes, a solid wooden top spanning two elegant steel crosses, it is a modern take on an old rectory table. The beauty of the Exe is that it takes on different looks depending on the combination of materials used. Previously seen in bronze with a glass top and in pewter with solid oak, this season we've married a beautiful book-matched elm top with an undulating, wane edge and a patinated and waxed steel base.

'The natural finishes perfectly bring the two contrasting materials together, giving it a pared back, almost Scandinavian elegance.' Tom Faulkner

The Exe dining table, 170 x 90cm, Steel with a black patination, bookmatched Elm with wane edge, oiled and waxed. RRP: £13,116
