

Eclipse Dining Table

The Eclipse is a contemporary dining table which draws upon many wells of inspiration. The idea began to take shape as Tom noticed the particular beauty of the off-cuts left over from another design. The negative spaces formed a distinctive pattern across each sheet of metal, prompting him to experiment, piecing them together to create this accordion table base. As the design developed, Tom encountered other sparks of inspiration. He noted the influence of Matisse's iconic 'Cut-Out' series as well as the stained glass windows he designed for the Rosary Chapel in Venice, a place Tom has visited several times. The result is an alter-esque glass-topped dining table which brings an artful touch to any environment – a fitting homage to its many muses.
