

Wave Bench

Our Wave design sits at the confluence of furniture and sculpture. In its bench form, it snakes along the ground, carving out alcoves to perch on one's own or turn towards a friend eye-to-eye. We make each one by hand in our own Wiltshire workshop, taking every opportunity to finesse the details. We start with great swathes of steel, which we roll to create a soft, organic flow of movement. They're then joined together and meticulously finetuned to eliminate any welding marks. We're left with a bit of clean and contemporary bench-style seating that brings a spark to any environment.
